Six Persons Injured As Cow Wrecks Bus

BAIRDWIN, Fla., July 15.—(AP) A meandering cow overturned a bus near here yesterday with injuries to six passengers. Miss Marion Jackson, a nurse, of Gainesville, Fla., was severely bruised and burned from gasoline.

The bus struck the cow en route to Gainesville and was badly damaged.

HUNGARIAN FLIERS NEARING IRELAND ON BUDAPEST HOP

Steamer Sights Magyar and Endres 700 Miles West of Fastnet; Ingalls Poised for Flight.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Alexander Magyar and George Endres, Hungarian fliers, were nearing Ireland at 1:37 p. m. (8:37 p. m. Wednesday, E. S. T.) on a projected nonstop flight from Harbor Grace, N. F., to Budapest. The two took off at 11:18, eastern standard time, yesterday morning in the face of reports that low clouds and rain covered their course across the Atlantic. The last report from them, however, said that all was well.

Laura Ingalls arrived at New York at 3:45 p. m. (eastern daylight time) from St. Louis on the last leg of her flight from the west coast to the starting point of her flight to France. She will attempt to win the honor of being the first woman to pilot a plane across the ocean.

Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, who recently flew around the world in less than nine days, arrived at New York yesterday to complete arrangements for a flying lecture tour of the country.

Otto Hillig and Holger Holst, first to cross the north Atlantic by air this year, are to return home by steamer Friday.

The seaplane DO-X was at Rio de Janeiro for a complete overhaul in drydock following its recent trans-Atlantic hop. It will start a leisurely flight to New York late next week.

Edward Maloney and Seth Yerrington, who attempted a nonstop flight from New York to Mexico City only to be forced down near the Mexican border, flew to the beach where their plane was damaged in the landing Monday. They hoped to repair it in time to fly to Brownsville, Texas, late next week.

French fliers who were forced to land in a remote portion of Siberia in their attempt to set a new straight-line flying record, plan to board a train for Moscow tomorrow. They probably will reach Paris next week where another plane, similar to the Hyperion in which they attempted the unsuccessful flight, is waiting for them should they elect to make another effort.

LONDON, July 15.—(AP)—To the accompaniment of news of communist rioting in many sections of Germany, Chancellor Bruening's government tonight broadcast by radio a series of decrees opening the banks and clamping down drastic regulations on traffic in foreign currencies.

The news that riots had broken out in a number of cities where quiet had reigned throughout the day began to arrive in Berlin by telegraph at the same time Finance Minister Dietrich was vigorously appealing by radio to the people to keep their nerve, to "use common sense," and to stand behind the country's leaders in their task of restoring financial and industrial equilibrium.

Although police were forced to resort to the use of firearms in Dresden, Leipzig and Karlsruhe reports received up to midnight indicated they were able to control the situation everywhere.

All banks in the country will be required tomorrow, the government decreed, but at least for the rest of this week they will take care of only such essential items as pay rolls, tax obligations and the unemployment dole.

It was made clear that Chancellor Bruening was determined not to permit a new run on foreign currencies.

Partial Moratorium Declared by Chile

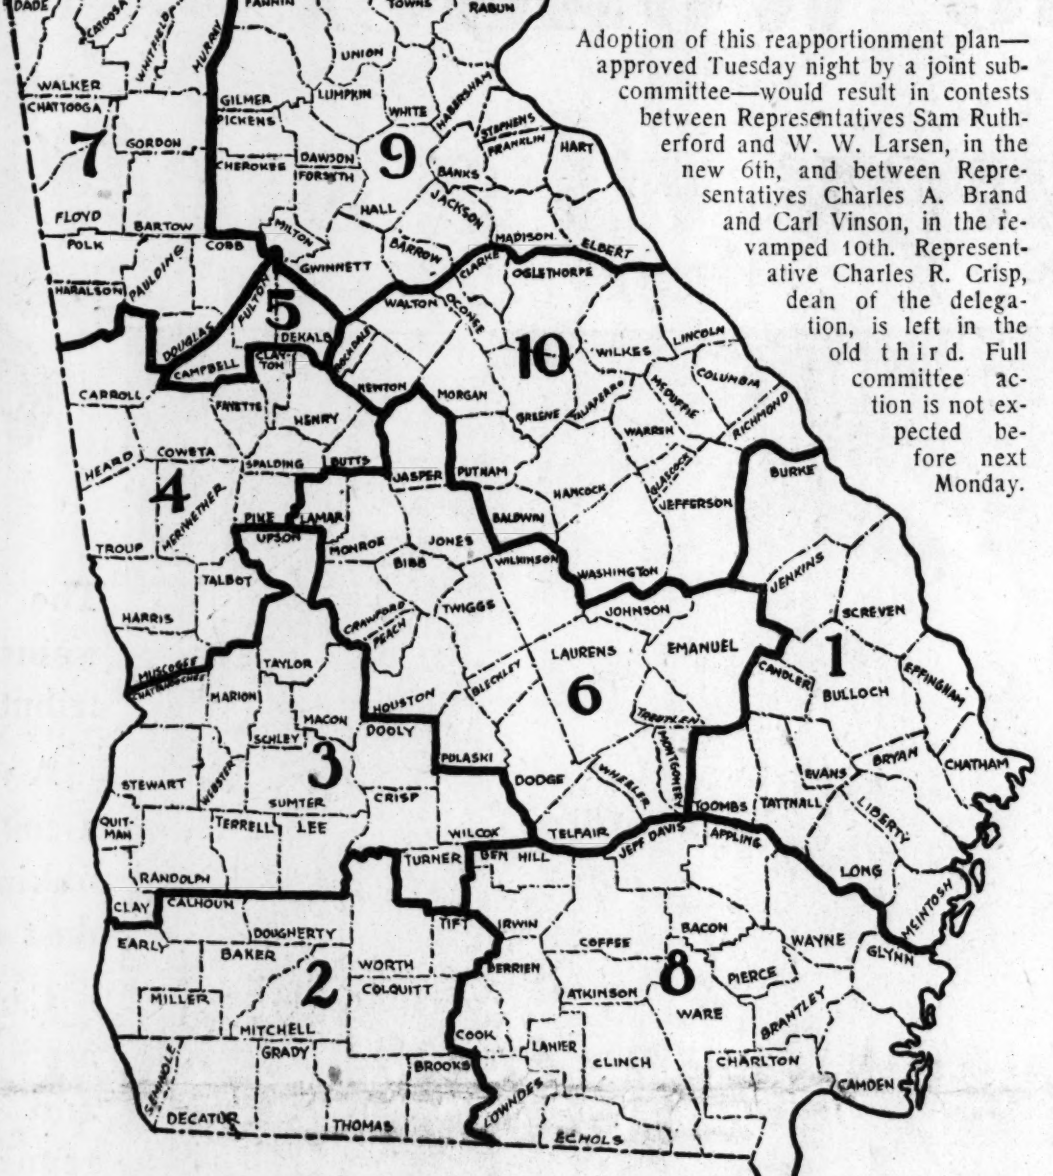

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 15.—(AP) A partial financial moratorium was declared in Chile tonight. The moratorium, it was announced, will only be temporary.

Much consideration has been devoted lately by the Chilean government to the country's financial condition.

A little over two weeks ago it was announced that negotiations were nearing completion for a visit to Chile by a group of American and British banking experts to investigate the country's financial situation, with particular reference to government obligations.

Map Shows New Reapportionment Plan Agreed on by Sub-Body From Both Houses

Adoption of this reapportionment plan—approved Tuesday night by a joint subcommittee—would result in contests between Representatives Sam Rutherford and W. W. Larsen, in the new 6th, and between Representatives Charles A. Brand and Carl Vinson, in the revamped 10th. Representative Charles R. Crisp, dean of the delegation, is left in the old third. Full committee action is not expected before next Monday.

Georgia's 12 congressional districts, embracing the 161 counties of the state, have been arranged in 10 to meet the state's loss in representatives in the lower branch of congress. The map shows the reapportionment plan agreed upon by a joint subcommittee from the two houses of the general assembly with Monroe county, home of Representative Sam Rutherford, in the same district with Laurens, home of Representative W. W. Larsen. Monroe has been in the old fourth and Laurens in the old twelfth. The other major change in the redistricting of the state is the placing of Clarke, home of Representative Charles A. Brand, which was in the old eighth, in the revamped tenth, which contains the home of Representative Carl Vinson.

EFFORTS TO DELAY RUSSELL BILL FAIL

Foes of Reorganization Lose Second Battle; De- bate Will Open Today.

BY R. E. POWELL.

Opponents of the reorganization of the state government lost their second successive battle in as many days Wednesday when the house, voting 103 to 41, tabled a resolution calling upon the special committee to report on the bill.

The resolution was introduced by Representative J. C. Meredith, of Muscogee, and was supported by Representatives J. C. Meredith, of Muscogee, and J. C. Meredith, of Muscogee.

Representative E. B. Dykes, of DeKalb, former president of the senate, acting as floor leader for the reorganization opponents, tried to get Speaker Tucker to displace the committee bill with an argument that it had been irregularly fixed as a special order and continuing order. Dykes contended that it had been set for consideration Tuesday when the morning hour was consumed in debate, over resolution to limit the length of speeches—in contravention of the house rules.

On the point that the house journal failed to show the successive steps by which the measure became the order of legislative business, Tucker ruled emphatically against Dykes, who, in a subsequent point of order, hinted that the passage of the bill without referring it as a special order might invalidate the house action.

Tucker again held that the house had acted regularly and again overruled the point of order raised by Dykes.

CITY BOARD VOTES DISMISSAL OF 16, SAVING OF $25,000

Nearly Score of Workers Face Discharge If Fi- nance Group's Action Passes in Council.

Eighteen borough employees will feel the sharp edge of the economic axe being swung to purge the borough government of alleged "political parasites" if council approves a preliminary report of the finance committee, compiled Wednesday, and about $25,000 of the $100,000 which a special council committee has said can be saved annually, will remain in the coffers.

Abolition of the wardens' office, elimination of two tax assessors' posts, cutting of five employees from the tax assessors' office, demotion of a police captain and lieutenant and dismissal of a stenographer to Chief James L. Beavers in the police department, and elimination of two building inspectors, one health nurse, one inspector and one laboratory assistant from the health department and one electrical inspector are among the recommendations.

Under a decision of the committee the report will go to council Monday, but will be deferred until the August session, to give time for "further study of possible cuts and also to permit attendance of Alderman G. Everett Millican, head of the council committee, to recommend governmental economies. Millican will not attend the council session Monday.

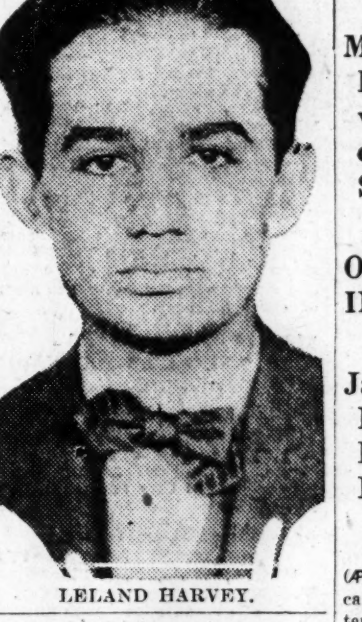

The committee has not yet considered the $100,000 in cuts recommended in the construction department pending the return to duty of Clarke Donaldson, chief of construction, from a recent illness. He is expected back the latter part of this week or the first of next.

A special committee composed of Mayor James L. Key, B. Graham Vest, controller; J. C. Little, tax assessor, and Alderman J. Charlie Murphy, chairman of the finance committee of council, is studying institution of a centralized auditing system which Millican claims will save from $200,000 to $400,000 annually.

The following departments, in most of which drastic cuts were recommended, were not touched by the committee:

I. C. C. HEARS PLEA ON RAIL RATE HIKE

Carriers Must Have In- crease, Life Insurance, Declares E. C. Duffield.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(AP)—A plea that the investments of thousands of insurance policyholders and savings bank depositors are endangered by declining railroad revenues was laid before the interstate commerce commission today to support the demands of the carriers for a general 15 per cent increase in freight rates.

In addition this situation was pictured as threatening to deprive the roads of one of their major sources of financing. Unless earnings increase, the commission was told, the banks and insurance companies must decline to purchase any more railroad securities.

These statements were made by Edward C. Duffield, president of the Prudential Life Insurance Company and chairman of the emergency committee on railroad investments of life insurance companies and mutual savings banks. His testimony was presented as the commission began hearings on the carriers' petition for the increased rates.

The insurance companies and banks, he said, hold $4,700,000,000 worth of railroad securities or approximately 40 per cent of the total outstanding. The railroads must refinance $1,300,000,000 worth of securities within the next year and a half and Duffield said "as trustees" for their policyholders and depositors the insurance companies and banks would have to decline to buy any more railroad bonds unless the carriers increased the rates.

The hearings opened today are expected to last possibly a week or more. Hundreds of persons crowded the hearing room. Commissioner Meyer presided, assisted by Commissioners Lee and Lewis. With them were W. D. B. Aimey, of Pennsylvania; Herbert W. Trafton, of Maine; Harvey H. Hanahan, of Tennessee; Hugh H. White, of Alabama; Paul A. Walker, of Oklahoma; A. R. McDonald, of Wisconsin; and William J. Carr, of California, representing the railroad commissions of the 48 states.

Meanwhile the shipping board adopted a resolution protesting the commission's order reducing rates on 149 commodities issued a year ago and endorsing the application of coastwise shipping companies for reorganization. The protested decision of the commission was made a year ago to meet the shipping companies' demand for a 15 per cent increase in rates.

Rudy Vallee's Mother Dies at Maine Home

WESTBROOK, Maine, July 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Katherine L. Vallee, mother of the bandmaster, died at 11:45 a. m. this morning.

Mrs. Vallee became ill several days ago and her sons, Rudy and George, in New York, were summoned to her bedside.

Rudy Vallee, leaving his bride of two weeks, returned to his home in New York, took a plane to Boston and thence to his home by train.

First Fight of Session Averted After 'Lie' Passes at Meeting

The first physical encounter of the 1931 regular session was narrowly averted Wednesday afternoon in a meeting of general agriculture committee No. 2, when Representative Charles Stewart, of Coffee, advanced on Claude Rountree, of Thomas county, former member of the state game and fish board, with a chair, it was reported.

Rountree said that he had not said the author was interested in any manner in any graft that might accrue from such an act, but that he reiterated his statement that special interests were behind the proposal. Stewart then seized a chair and advanced on Rountree, but other members of the committee intervened and peace was restored.

DUMMY GUN USED AS MEN OVERAWHE GUARDS AND FLEE

ONE NEGRO CAUGHT IN NEARBY CREEK

Jack Martin and Leland Harvey Were Serving Life Terms for Murder, Banditry.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., July 15.—(AP)—Flourishing a dummy pistol, carved from wood, Jack Martin, life-terminator, today led 10 other prisoners in a successful break for liberty from the state prison farm near here.

Among those escaping and a ring-leader in the plot was Leland Harvey, serving 110 years for robbery. It was Harvey's seventh escape.

One of those who escaped, a negro whose name had not been made public early tonight, was captured in a creek not far from the scene of the escape, and officers from a half dozen towns and counties were patrolling highways and using every possible means of blocking the escape.

There was another report at the prison that the pistol used by Martin was real and had been smuggled to him, but those on the scene soon after the escape said it was generally accepted that the gun was a dummy. Advices from the prison were that Martin did not have access to the wood shop and could not have done the carving otherwise.

Martin and Harvey were reported to have taken a horse belonging to a guard, marched the convict crews, consisting of 32 men, and 21 negroes, half mile away to a spot behind a large barn, where Harvey yelled:

"You're all free now. Those of you who want to go with us."

Some of the prisoners refused to leave and were taken back to prison, where the alarm was made. Eight left, following Harvey and Martin, who rode the guard's horse to a highway.

Three automobiles were stopped, their occupants made to leave and most of the convicts made their getaway in this manner. It is thought the negroes were taken to escape through the creek and woodland.

The first automobile stopped was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Marsh, of the state sanatorium, the baby and Mrs. Marsh's mother. Mrs. Marsh, a trained nurse, saw a man

Police Called as 'Madonna Image' Excites 50,000 Persons in Chicago

CHICAGO, July 15.—(AP)—A crowd of more than 50,000 persons, excited by what it thought was an image of the Madonna and Child on a building in the South Ashland avenue Italian district, became unmanageable tonight, necessitating calls for police reserves.

The crowd was so dense that street car and bus traffic had to be rerouted out of the district. A demand by police that they disperse was ignored. Many persons were overcome by the intense heat and the crowd.

Thousands, drawn into the district by reports concerning the "apparition," had stood reverently in front of the building throughout the day.

As darkness fell, the steadily-growing crowd got out of hand. Semi-hysterical men and women alternately knelt in prayer and yelled about shouting and singing hymns.

As the crush about the building became serious, police reserves arrived and attempted to keep spectators moving. At midnight, however, the gathering had shown no signs of diminishing. Police said they feared

TROPICAL STORM HITS GULF COAST

Heavy Damage Done as Wind and Rains Sweep
Areas in Two States.

NEW ORLEANS, July 15.—(AP)—A tropical storm, riding a 50-mile-an-hour wind, lashed the Louisiana and Mississippi coasts today, damaging small craft, sweeping away bathing piers and fishing camps and hampering traffic. No casualties had been reported early tonight.

The weather bureau here reported the center of the disturbance moving inland between New Orleans and Morgan City to the west of here, but it was to the east, along the Mississippi coastal area, that the heaviest blow was reported this afternoon.

A steadily rising wind through the day finally reached a velocity of 40 to 55 miles an hour in the vicinity of Gulfport, Biloxi and Bay St. Louis. Accompanied by driving rain, the gale kicked up a six-foot tide that pounded the sea wall and dashed over into the coastline highway, wrecking public and private piers. The waves were reported to have leaped high enough to hit residences along the beach near Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

At Gulfport a new Elks' pier, dedicated last night, was washed away with damage estimated at more than $1,200. Pleasure pavilions were unroofed.

Yachts gathered at Biloxi for the annual regatta sought the safety of the inner harbor there, where they were joined by fishing smacks and schooners. Numerous small boats were battered to pieces against the seawall. The heavy tide undermined an Illinois Central railroad track on the pier at Gulfport, causing a box car to tumble into the gulf.

Power and telephone lines were generally damaged in the section. Trains were halted for a time at Bay St. Louis to allow inspection of the trestle across the bay.

At mid-afternoon the barometer at Gulfport had fallen to 29.88 and appeared to be stationary there.

The disturbance was heralded in New Orleans early today with a 30-mile wind and a five-inch rain, as much as has fallen in any one month this year. Trees were broken and traffic hampered by waters in the streets.

Planes attached to the national air tour were held at the local airport on advice of the weather bureau, but H. R. Shebat, one of the air tour officials, disregarded this advice to take off on a solo hop for his home in Buffalo, N. Y., when he was advised that his son was being operated on there for appendicitis.

Morgan City, which had prepared for the worst of the blow, appeared to have come off lightly. The wind there today was not more than 25 miles an hour and the barometer, after dropping to 29.60 at noon, began to rise a few hours later, indicating the storm had passed that sector.

North of New Orleans heavy rains and high winds threatened to hamper rail communications when a heavy tide swept water over the tracks at Pass Manchac, where Lake Maurepas and Lake Pontchartrain meet.

HUNGARIAN FLIERS NEARING IRELAND ON BUDAPEST HOP

took off in their airplane, the "Justice to Hungary," at 1:38 p. m. Newfound time (11:38 a. m. eastern standard time) for Budapest. In the absence of radio reports they were believed to be far out over the sea tonight.

The Hungarians had a wireless set and said they would send the call letters KHZSA on 900 meters every hour if they believed it necessary. Weather reports just prior to the take-off indicated the fliers would have favorable winds over most of their route, but that a dangerous sailing formed by dense clouds might impede their progress.

The "Justice to Hungary" got away well the start despite the heavy load of gasoline. Some difficulty was experienced by a mechanic in starting the motor, but after it had been warmed up for about 40 minutes everything mechanical was pronounced satisfactory.

Endres and Magyar smiled and waved cheerfully to those at the airport as the plane headed into the sky.

"If everything goes well after we have gone 2,000 miles we can safely say we are there," Endres said as he entered the plane.

The object of the flight, Endres and Magyar previously had said, was to call the attention of the world to what they termed wrongs done Hungary after the World War.

Magyar and Endres both supervised the work of placing food and clothing aboard the plane. Their food supply included ham, chicken and tomato sandwiches, two quarts of ice water, two quarts of black coffee and a score of chocolate bars.

FLIGHT OF 9,000 MILES PLANNED BY CANADIAN

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 15.—(AP)—J. Williams, of Ottawa, today announced plans for a 9,000-mile three-stop flight, which includes a non-stop trip from Halifax, across Canada to Vancouver, another from here to Mexico City and a third back to Halifax.

FLINT SAUSAGE MAKER AWAITS FLIERS' ARRIVAL

FLINT, Mich., July 15.—(AP)—In Budapest, Hungary, Emil Salay, retired Flint sausage manufacturer, awaits the arrival of George Endres and Alexander Magyar, Hungarian fliers, in the plane in which he has invested $30,000 as his payment of what he terms "a debt of gratitude" to the land of his birth.

Salay, 58 years old, met the fliers in a Detroit Hungarian language newspaper office a year ago and heard of their hopes to make a gesture of patriotism toward their native land by a flight from Detroit to Budapest.

The fliers lacked funds and proposed to obtain money by selling picture postcards and obtaining small subscriptions from Hungarian Americans. Salay agreed to underwrite the flight, bought the plane and financed the preparations for the trip.

The flight, conceived on the tenth anniversary of the treaty of Trianon, was to emphasize what the Hungarians assert was an unfair division of Hungarian territory after the World War.

PERFUME MAKER OFFERS FRENCHMEN NEW CHANCE

PARIS, July 15.—(AP)—Francis Coty, perfume manufacturer, said today that Joseph Le Brix and Marcel Dorel, French fliers, would be given another opportunity to make a non-stop flight to Tokyo as soon as they returned from Central Siberia.

An airplane of the same type as the Hyphen is ready, he said, and they will be entrusted with it unless the injuries they received several days ago when they crashed near Nijni Udinsk caused a long delay.

The fliers and their mechanic plan to board a train tomorrow for Moscow, but cannot reach Paris for nearly a week. Efforts are being made to salvage their plane and the good parts will be brought back with them.

GERMAN DECREE TO REOPEN BANKS

or the resumption of raids on savings banks.

The government's action came a few hours after the Reichsbank had lowered the 40 per cent coverage on currency required by law, thereby releasing millions of marks to ease the credit situation created by heavy withdrawals of foreign credit during recent weeks.

Raise Discount

The Reichsbank also raised its discount rate from 7 to 10 per cent and boosted the rate on loans against collateral from 8 to 15 per cent—both measures being taken to keep the expanded currency down to the actual needs of the nation and to forestall inflation.

This action was taken shortly after President Paul von Hindenburg returned to Berlin from his summer place in Neudeck.

In appealing to the people to show a sporting spirit, the government broadcaster pointed out that savings accounts, tied up by the bank closing order, were intended for use in rare emergencies and not for current expenditure.

The decree affecting foreign currencies, also read over the radio, restricts buying and selling to the Reichsbank and its duly appointed agents. It prohibits the quotation of any except official rates of exchange which will be determined in Berlin.

The decree also forbids publication of unofficial stock and bond quotations as well as all trading in foreign exchange futures.

Government Assurance

The radio broadcast closed with the government's assurance that the restrictions would be removed shortly from remittances of money through banks and postoffices and that "gradually but rapidly as the situation permits the banks will be allowed to return to full normal operation."

The foreign exchange decree vests the federal minister of economics with authority to inspect books and to demand sworn statements from all persons buying or selling foreign currency, and lays down drastic penalties for violations.

Offenders not only are liable to imprisonment and fines of 10 times the value of the currencies involved but the currencies themselves may be confiscated and the offenders' property attached.

Here Dietrich declared that as a result of the day's decision the Reichsbank coverage will fluctuate between 33 and 40 per cent—in other words, will be as high or higher than it was before the war.

Foreign Minister Dietrich also asked the people not to forget that "it is not the government, but private industry which is pressed for cash." The Hoover plan, he said, with Chancellor Brüning's drastic economy program, has put the German exchequer "on its feet," and even enabled the government to begin repaying some of its floating debt. Already, he said, several hundred millions have been returned to industry.

One fatality from the rioting throughout the country was reported late tonight. The demonstrations were widespread and directed largely against reduction of the dole.

In Leipzig the communists fired upon a police lorry. Twenty-six were arrested in a demonstration in which the police used blackjacks. A woman and a man were wounded when the police used their pistols in Dresden to disperse a group of rioters. In Gelsenkirchen, in the Ruhr district, about 500 communists fired from house tops upon the police and one policeman was injured. After the arrival of reinforcements order was restored.

Pistols were also used in a fray at Inschwerde, near Dortmund, and one man was killed and another injured.

NEW YORK BANKS TO HONOR PROPER GERMAN DRAFTS

NEW YORK, July 15.—(AP)—Representatives of leading New York banks decided at a meeting today to honor drafts by German banks when properly drawn.

The action followed a lack of uniformity of practice which developed earlier this week. Some banks declined then to honor drafts on the expectation that with a virtual moratorium on all payments in effect in Germany as a result of the bank holiday, their own drafts could not be collected in Germany because they could not be presented. The reopening of German banks tomorrow will remove this difficulty, however.

The increase in the rediscunt rate of the Reichsbank was regarded in Wall Street as a step in the right direction and an indication of an effort to restore normal conditions.

GERMANY ABLE TO MEET UNCONDITIONAL PAYMENTS

BASEL, Switzerland, July 15.—(AP)—Germany paid over to the World Bank 51,000,000 Swiss francs (about $10,000,000) today, representing the unconditional reparations annuity under the Young plan, but in accordance with the Franco-American agreement on the Hoover moratorium, the entire sum is to be loaned back to Germany immediately.

Service Announced

PENSACOLA, Fla., July 15.—(AP)—A bulletin from the Chamber of Commerce today announced a monthly steamship service out of Pensacola to the Pacific coast. The Gulf-Pacific steamers of the Redwood line will be the vessels in the new service.

JUVENILE LASHING IN PRISONS DENIED

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(AP)—The department of justice today issued a formal denial of reports that children were being flogged in institutions under the charge of the federal bureau of prisons.

Such statements arose, the department said, from a recent report of the Wickersham commission upon juvenile delinquents and their treatment under the federal system of justice. In it were descriptions of floggings and harsh treatment given federal juvenile offenders confined in state institutions.

At the same time, the department revealed the prison bureau had been at work for months drafting legislation to bring about results while the Wickersham report made "no definite or concrete proposal for legislation."

EVERGLADES FIRES CONTINUE SPREAD

DAVIE, Fla., July 15.—(AP)—With more than eight sections of Everglades muck lands ablaze west of here, efforts were made today to enlist the support of the Broward county commission to prevent the spread of the fires.

Jose Reese, former Everglades fire warden in this district, said he conferred with B. W. Strickland, county commissioner in Fort Lauderdale, asking for an emergency appropriation.

tion to fight the fires. Reese said he was informed there was no money available for that purpose because the commission had not set up such an item in its budget.

Unless rains extinguish the fires soon, Reese said, the land would be rendered useless for agricultural purposes.

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE SUGAR TO SWEETEN DRINKS

How could we go through summer without home-made drinks sweetened to taste with sugar and chilled with ice?

Nothing can take the place of sugar in sweetening drinks. And housewives all over the country look upon refined cane sugar as the standard. Use it for iced tea, coffee and chocolate, milk shakes, lemonade and fruit punches. Refresh yourself with a sweetened drink. The Sugar Institute.

No wonder Women are switching to Camels

The steady increase in the number of women who are switching to Camels is a tribute to the mildness of this cigarette.

A woman's throat is more delicate than a man's—more easily irritated by the unkindly hot smoke of parched, dry-as-dust tobaccos.

Camels are milder, first, because they are a throat-friendly blend of fine Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos that require no parching.

Camels are milder, second, because all peppery dust is removed by a special vacuum-cleaning process before Camels are air-sealed in the Humidor Pack of germ-safe moisture-proof Cellophane.

Camels are milder, third, because this wrapping of moisture-proof Cellophane prevents the cigarettes from drying out. The natural moisture of the tobaccos is held intact.

When you inhale the cool fragrant smoke of a Camel you enjoy all the flavor, all the aroma of blended fine tobaccos kept in prime smoking condition—without the sting and bite-and-burn of stale, dried-out cigarettes.

Just try Camels, join the throng and switch to them for one day, then quit them—if you can.

Don't remove the moisture-proof Cellophane from your package of Camels after you open it. The Humidor Pack is protection against perfume and powder odors, dust and germs. It delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until the last one has been smoked.

Why buy a SECOND-CHOICE TIRE when FIRST-CHOICE costs no more?

YOU see pictured here the first-choice tire of the world—the famous standard Goodyear All-Weather.

Every inch and ounce of it reveals superior quality, yet it sells at no premium in price.

It leads all other tires in sales and popularity, simply because it performs for the man who uses it as no other tire can or does.

As for it being first-choice, you needn't take Goodyear's word for it—that has been settled by millions of car owners like yourself.

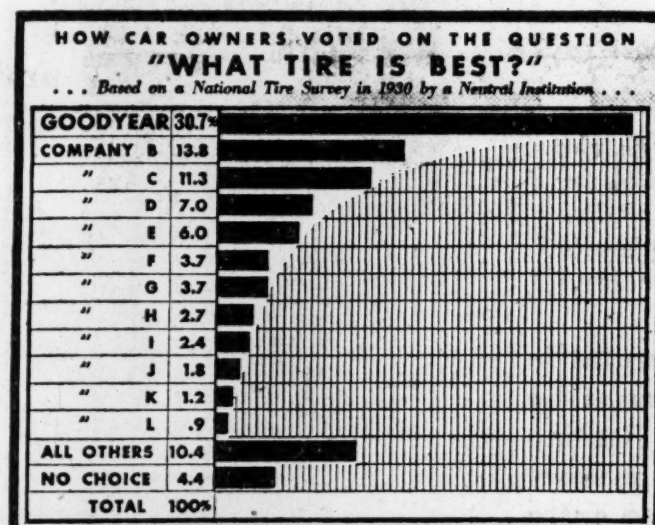

A great and unbiased public institution recently completed a nation-wide survey, asking motorists "What tire is best?"

The vote was taken in every state—in cities, towns and on farms, and the answers were not influenced in any way.

As the chart shows, the preference for Goodyears was nearly $2\frac{1}{4}$ times that for the second tire, and five times the average preference for all other makes.

This result checks with the known buying habits of the American people, for "More people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind!"

Price is a great inducement in times like these, and despite their higher quality Goodyears sell at prices as low or lower than other makes.

Look at Goodyear values, then ask yourself the simple question: "Why buy a second-choice tire, when first-choice costs no more?"

SIX IMPORTANT FEATURES of the new standard

GOODYEAR ALL-WEATHER TREAD TIRE

- 1 Its center non-skid pattern is 10% deeper
- 2 Its shoulder non-skid pattern is 50% deeper
- 3 Riding ribs and outer non-skid blocks have outside bracing as on truck tires
- 4 Outer non-skid blocks are handsomely prised into sidewalls
- 5 Cross sections are equal to Heavy Duty measurements
- 6 Styled to 1931 motor car design

HOW TO MAKE EVERY DOLLAR GO FARTHER!

It doesn't cost you a cent more to buy a Goodyear Tire—and when you buy a Goodyear you get the most popular tire in the world. You get also the extra value produced by the world's largest tire production. No use trying to match that elsewhere. It simply can't be done.

MONOXIDE GAS KILLS TREASURY OFFICIAL

Suicide Certificate Issued in Death of Robert G.
Hand.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(AP)—Robert G. Hand, commissioner of accounts and deposits of the treasury department, was found dead in his closed garage early today with the motor of his automobile running. The body was discovered by a negro employee shortly after daybreak. A certificate of suicide was issued. Hand, a native of Shubuta, Miss., worked principally on estimates of tax revenues. He had been treated for a nervous disorder and members of the family said he had threatened to take his life by monoxide gas from the motor of his car.

FLIPPER ATTENDING FLORIDA GATHERINGS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 15.—Bishop J. E. Flipper, D. D., L. D., of Atlanta, the Episcopal head of the African Methodist Episcopal Church of the Florida diocese, is making official visits to the three presiding elder districts of this city. He is also addressing the young people's church organizations—the Sunday school and the African Christian Endeavor League conventions now being held by the following districts: The East Jacksonville district, Rev. H. T. Toole, D. D., presiding elder; South Jacksonville district, Rev. R. T. Gordon, D. D., presiding elder; West Jacksonville district, Rev. R. B. Brooks, D. D., presiding elder. Bishop Flipper, addressing these meetings, spoke on the "Illumination of the Church," "The Youth of Today," and "The Church of Tomorrow."

He placed emphasis on the laity of the church and their equal representation in the general conference of the church, "who will fight for rotation of bishops and equal numbers of the Episcopal committee," declared the bishop.

Grace Moore Weds Spanish Actor At Civil Ceremony in Cannes

CANNES, France, July 15.—(AP)—Grace Moore, American singer, and Valentino Parara, Spanish motion picture actor, were married by the deputy mayor of Cannes today in a civil ceremony at the city hall.

After the ceremony, which was witnessed by Samuel Chotzinoff, New York music critic, and Sam Debra, wealthy Cuban friend of the bridegroom, the couple were guests at a garden party.

Other guests at the party, including authors, actors and society folk, came in dress varying from formal afternoon attire to pajamas and one-piece bathing suits.

Among the list were Charlie Chaplin, Gloria Swanson, Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Arlen, Signora Toscanini, wife of the conductor; Maurice DeKobra and Mrs. Dorothy Benjamin Caruso.

After the reception the couple planned to leave for a wedding trip to Venice, where they have taken a palace on the Grand canal. Grace Moore, a Tennessee girl who became a prima donna of musical comedy, grand opera, talking pictures and the radio, and Valentino Parara, Spanish movie actor, first met on the liner Ile de France about two months ago.

Parara, who is 32 years old, was returning from his first appearance in Hollywood.

Miss Moore has been quoted as saying her marriage would not interfere with her artistic career, but that after the honeymoon she and her husband would go to Bayreuth for a concert conducted by Toscanini and then would make a film together in France. They expected to return to New York in September for Miss Moore's engagement at the Metropolitan Opera house.

In Georgia's Legislative Halls

Agricultural committee No. 2 of the house will meet at 9 o'clock this morning to discuss a commission held bill. The committee held a session Wednesday afternoon to discuss bills relating to free hog serum, but took no action.

Privileges of the senate floor were extended Wednesday to Hugh A. Caruthers, of Winder; J. R. Hutcherson, of Tallapoosa, and T. J. Lance, president of Young Harris College. The house similarly honored L. H. Locklin, James L. Smith and B. E. Hightower Jr., ex-members; Edgar Dunlap, of Gainesville; Robert Bruce Jones, of Ribb county; Thomas W. Bryan and E. H. McConnell, of Walker county; L. L. Brown Jr., of Peach county; T. T. Mahoney, of Jefferson county; Judge M. C. Barwick, of the Jonesville city court, and Mr. Caruthers.

Fulton county bills to be considered at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon by the county and county matters committee of the house include measures fixing the fiscal year, reducing the road tax and creating a tax commissioner. All three bills bear the protest of Representative Luthie. Other Fulton measures may be Friday.

Because of important legislation pending, the trip of the joint senate and house conservation committee to the Okefenokee swamp Wednesday was postponed for one week. Bonnell H. Stone, of Union county, secretary of the Georgia Forestry Association, announced.

The highway committee of the senate will meet at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at offices of the highway board.

Consider your Adam's Apple!! Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Place your finger on your Adam's Apple. You are actually touching your larynx—this is your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Reach for a LUCKY instead.

Here is what one of America's great scientists, whom we retained to study LUCKY STRIKE'S manufacturing process, says about the mellowing effect of Ultra Violet Rays which are included in our exclusive "TOASTING" process:

"The effects of this ultra violet treatment on the tobacco have been tested and are found to involve an increase in what is called the 'mildness' of the tobacco."

One of America's greatest writers and editors says this:

"When I visited Reidsville and went through the LUCKY STRIKE plant, I found one explanation for the growth of LUCKY STRIKE. Your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the 'Toasting' of tobaccos is a splendid example of achievement. It is the new order of the day."

Remember, LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette in America which offers you the throat protection of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process—that secret heating process which expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos, and which includes the extra mellowing benefits of modern Ultra Violet Rays. And so we say "Consider your Adam's Apple." Be careful in your choice of cigarettes.

kind to your throat

FASCISTS LEADERS INJURED BY BOMBS

Explosive Fountain Pen
"Gifts" Wound Two Officials at Genoa.

GENOA, Italy, July 15.—(P)—An alleged bomb plot, in which the bombs were 40 fountain pens loaded with high explosive, resulted in the wounding of two fascist officials here, it was revealed today, and mobilization of all political police units.

Police said the fountain pens were sent through the mail to fascist leaders and that the first two which were opened by the recipients exploded, wounding the men.

A bomb also exploded on the dock here during the day, but it injured no one.

The plot was discovered two days ago, it was said, but the pens were arriving in the mails today. Efforts to trace the origin of the bombs have so far been fruitless, but postal authorities were working on clues tonight.

After the explosion of the first two pens, all fascist leaders were warned not to open small packages, but to bring them to police headquarters for examination.

The bombs were said to have been very cleverly made and to have been accurate copies of fountain pens.

Germany's Balance
In Foreign Trade
Over 200 Million

BERLIN, July 15.—(P)—Germany's trade balance for the first six months of this year was $18,000,000 marks (roughly $294,500,000).

Official trade figures made public today showed imports of $3,700,000,000 marks ($59,500,000,000) and exports of $20,700,000,000 marks ($327,000,000,000).

The Reichsbank reported 567,000,000 marks in gold ($8,415,000,000) which $97,500,000 went to France, $10,000,000 to Holland, $18,500,000 to Belgium and $6,500,000 to Switzerland.

The principal gold receipts from abroad were $5,500,000 from Russia and $4,500,000 from Great Britain.

ALLEGED KIDNAPING
REPORTED TO POLICE

W. R. Phillips, 1104 Hobson street, reported to the police Wednesday night that he was "captured" at noon Wednesday on Broad street between Marietta and Alabama streets, by two unidentified men who held him prisoner "out in the country all afternoon."

Phillips said the two men jumped out of a car, drew pistols on him and forced him into their machine. He then was blindfolded, he said, and carried to the country where they questioned him about disposal of a carload of liquor. He said that one of the men remained with him while the other came back to the city. When the man who came to the city returned he informed his partner "we have the wrong man," Phillips reported. He said he then was released.

Woman Changes Mind
After Planning Suicide

Invited to attend the suicide of a woman occupant of the Lenox apartments, at 4 Porter place, Wednesday afternoon, police and newspapermen hurried to the scene only to find that the suicide had been called off.

Mrs. W. H. Delaney, 32, called headquarters at about 3 o'clock, demanding that officers and newspapermen be sent out at once, as she was planning to commit suicide. When the party reached Mrs. Delaney's apartment, they found its occupant in tears. She had changed her mind, she said, about the suicide, which had been resolved upon in a fit of despondency, while she was brooding over her recent divorce, and the fact that her husband, said to be an engineer for a local utilities company, was granted custody of their only child, a son. Mrs. Delaney was taken to police headquarters for observation.

Motorist's Kindness
Costs Him His Auto

E. M. Wills, of Danville, Ill., reported the following to the police Wednesday night:

That Wednesday afternoon while motoring to Atlanta from Danville he picked up a hitch-hiker between Rome and Cartersville.

That on arrival here he and the hitch-hiker drove to a spot on Pryor street, between Edgewood and Decatur, where they left the car parked, the keys in the switch.

That he carried his luggage to the Kimball House, parting from the hitch-hiker at Pryor and Decatur streets.

That when he returned a few minutes later the car was gone.

That some barbers who were in front of their shop reported the man who had left the car with him had returned and driven it away.

That the car was a 1925 Buick, "in good condition."

be and is hereby authorized and instructed to make a thorough investigation of the printing department of the state of Georgia and the general activities of the printing plant at the state penitentiary and report its findings to this body.

Collins also charged that the Gibson Printing Company had received new and valuable contracts since one of the members of the printing department had become interested in that company. The Allied Printing Trades Council, Mr. Collins said, would furnish the committee with any evidence it possessed for purposes of the inquiry.

C. P. Byrd, for many years affiliated with the printing business in Atlanta, appeared before the committee Wednesday. He had been called to appear as an expert on printing matters. Mr. Byrd said that the paper used in printing the laws and court records was of a cheaper grade than that specified by contract, and added that, though many other reputable firms had bid for the contract, it had been awarded to the Stein company since that company had been in existence.

"A great deal of it," Mr. Byrd said, "is due to ignorance or negligence." He pointed out that the law requires a person of competence to represent the state in the award of contracts of that nature.

Charges were also made by Collins that the printing department at Milledgeville was soliciting commercial business in violation of the law.

STATE PRINTING PROBE ORDERED

Investigation Is Voted
After House Group
Hears Labor Leader.

An investigation into the activities of the state printing department was ordered Wednesday by the unanimous adoption by the house printing committee of a resolution inquiring into charges of irregularities.

Appearing before the committee, J. T. Collins, of the Allied Printing Trades Council of Atlanta, told the members that for the last seven or eight years the Stein Printing Company of Atlanta has been accorded favoritism in state contracts and that on one occasion has overcharged the state $3,555.00 for type composition.

Charges also were made that inferior grades of paper have been used regardless of contract specifications.

Representative Griffin, of Decatur county, after hearing the charges, introduced a resolution providing for an investigation of the state printing department and of the printing department at Milledgeville supervised by the secretary of state.

The resolution follows:

"Whereas, charges were made before the state printing commission that the state of Georgia has been grossly overcharged for type composition during the past several years, measurements and figures being presented to substantiate these charges, and

"Whereas, there has been considerable complaint by various department heads as well as private citizens against some of the practices used in awarding of printing for the state of Georgia, and

"Whereas, the printing department of the office of the secretary of state, operated by convicts at Milledgeville, is reported as soliciting commercial printing in violation of the state law prohibiting convicts competing with free labor. Therefore be it

BUILDING PLANNED FOR ARAGON TRACT

Collier Estate, Owners of Site, To Erect Two-Story Store Structure.

Real estate circles were interested Wednesday afternoon in the announcement that the unoccupied Aragon hotel structure at Peachtree and Ellis streets was to be torn down and replaced in the near future by a two-story building to be erected for store purposes.

The G. W. Collier estate, owners of the property, have made tentative plans calling for about five store units on the Peachtree side with additional stores on Ellis street. It was said that the foundation would be laid with a view to locating a larger building—probably a hotel—on the site in the future.

Unoccupied for a year and a half, the old Aragon structure has been the topic of numerous realty discussions, one of which centered around the fact that the building was in poor condition and that the Collier estate was in a position to sell it at a low price.

Unoccupied for a year and a half, the old Aragon structure has been the topic of numerous realty discussions, one of which centered around the fact that the building was in poor condition and that the Collier estate was in a position to sell it at a low price.

The Collier estate, owners of the property, have made tentative plans calling for about five store units on the Peachtree side with additional stores on Ellis street. It was said that the foundation would be laid with a view to locating a larger building—probably a hotel—on the site in the future.

SHIFTING CLOCK BEATS CONNECTICUT TIME LAW

TORRINGTON, Conn., July 15.—(P)—Ben Henry Smith displayed a clock in his window showing daylight saving time, contrary to the laws of Connecticut.

In city court he was ordered to do something about it. He did. The clock is now tilted, with the figure 11 in the position at the top of the dial where 12 should be. Thus, although the hands point to standard time, the clock in effect registers daylight time.

CAROLINIAN CONVICTED OF SINKING FUND FRAUD

GAFFNEY, S. C., July 15.—(P)—T. B. Daniel, former banker and chairman of the Cherokee county sinking fund commission, today was convicted on an indictment charging breach of trust with fraudulent intent.

The count on which Daniel was convicted involved a $1,000 check dated April 5, 1930. The defendant did not deny that he had gotten the money, but claimed he had lent it to himself.

Florida Senator Repeats Charge Of 'Dilly-Dallying' by Government

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(P)—dallying policy of responsible administration officials may not be unrelated to anticipated political exigencies of the 1932 campaign.

Inadequacy of an architectural staff, Fletcher said, had held up work. "Granted that sites have been selected," he added, "appropriations made and architects chosen, the question is how many workers have been provided employment in carrying forward the building program?"

Senator Fletcher today reiterated his charge the government's emergency building program had failed to help the unemployed because of delay.

Replying to Assistant Secretary Heath of the treasury, who challenged his original statements, the Florida democrat, in a statement issued through the democratic national committee, referred to "the general impression in Washington that the dilly-

W. C. T. U. LEADERS FOUST WITH KEY

Drys Take Plea for Law Enforcement Direct to Office of Mayor.

Mayor James L. Key's anti-prohibition leanings Wednesday passed through the proverbial fiery furnace and remained unscathed.

Based at the executive offices by a group of Woman's Christian Temperance Union leaders, headed by Mrs. Marvin Williams, state president, and others prominent in the organization's activities, the mayor met the onslaught determinedly, candidly, reiterating that the present law is a failure and unenforceable with the present machinery. The "noble experiment" remained under official indictment of Atlanta's executive.

Although the discussions at times bristled with personalities and sharp exchanges, Key kept cool, remained chivalrous, meeting the veiled accusations, tactfully breaking the thick, cold layer of frost which seemed to well between him and his callers. The session ended in a love feast with prayer being offered by Mrs. Williams and others.

When the meeting first opened, it appeared that the women came for a distinct purpose and the mayor asked whether the call had any political significance.

Mrs. Williams assured him that it did not. At one point in the discussions Mrs. Williams referred to a news reporter, telling him "to get that," and Key demanded, "Is this call meant to get something in the newspapers?" She assured him that was not the purpose.

"Just what can I do for you ladies?" Key asked.

"We want the law enforced," he was informed.

"We are doing everything possible to enforce that and all other laws; just last month more than 1,000 were charged with drunkenness in Atlanta alone," the mayor countered.

Mrs. Mary Russell, state secretary of the W. C. T. U., told the mayor, "Before we elected you to this office we understood that you were politically, as well as personally, dry," adding, "What have you got to say to that, Mr. Mayor?"

"I made no such statement," Key retorted.

"Well, we were given to understand that you did. It is a reflection on my sincerity."

"My husband voted for you thinking you were a temperance man. He was deceived," another woman of the party of 15 said.

"Now that you have gotten that out of your system, let's hear from somebody else," Key said.

Mrs. Williams appeared as the spokesman for the group, but Key spiked that when he said, "I want to hear from my constituents first and then we will hear from Mrs. Williams."

For several seconds those present

Crocker Widow Counsel May Collect $600,000

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., July 15.—(AP)—Attorneys for Mrs. Bula Crocker, widow of the late Tammany Hall chieftain, will share in her Palm Beach estate to the extent of $600,000, agreements filed here said. This is provided they win litigation Mrs. Crocker has fought in courts of America and Europe to prevent Crocker's children from getting the lands.

The Palm Beach estate, valued at $7,000,000, will be divided so the attorneys will receive a portion worth $600,000, plus a $20,000 retainer fee in cash. The agreement was made with R. E. Robinson and the local law firm of Fancher, Paty & Warwick.

floundered without a leader, but one of them finally took hold of the meeting and carried on.

What was believed to have been the purpose of the call developed when one of the group announced: "Unless you can in your heart retract what you said about prohibition, you should resign."

"What have I said that was untrue?" Key asked.

"Your statement that prohibition can't be enforced,"

"I said it could not be enforced as its friends want it enforced. It can be enforced better than that you ladies have me do?"

"We want better enforcement."

"I have always favored enforcement of the prohibition law. I am just speaking the truth, as I always have. I said in Atlanta years ago, and I say now, that the law is debauching our people and our government."

Key had a brush with another of the delegation, when the member attacked his assertion that the prohibition law was a failure when the law against stealing is being violated constantly.

"If stealing were done openly, if people by the thousands and presumably good people, snatched and carried off by the thousands, as they now do about the prohibition law, I would say it is a bad law. It all depends on the attitude of the people, and you are aware of the general attitude toward prohibition."

"I want to say one other thing. If any of you know that the law is being violated and can furnish the evidence, we would deem it a favor if you would turn it over to us so that we can enforce the law."

When a reference was made to Chief of Police James L. Beavers' assertion that the law cannot be enforced with the present force, Key said: "That man has more battle scars on his breast from his attempts to enforce all laws, the prohibition law included, than any chief in the country. No one can reflect on his character or ability, and your mayor will do his duty at all times, regardless of the consequences."

FLORIDIAN SENTENCED TO ATLANTA PRISON

MIAMI, Fla., July 15.—(AP)—Federal Judge Halsted L. Ritter today sentenced Dr. Joseph E. Abrams of Miami, to three years in the Atlanta penitentiary following his conviction by a jury of the sale of narcotics.

Attorneys for Dr. Abrams said they would appeal the case after Judge Ritter denied a motion for a new trial.

HOUSE BODY BACKS REAPPOINTMENT

Favorable Report Ordered on Bill to Revise Representation in State.

The house committee on redistricting and reapportionment Wednesday ordered a favorable report on a bill to reapportion seats in the state house of representatives on the basis of the census of 1930.

The measure, offered by the Troup delegation, does not affect the number of members of the house, but some instances change the number of representatives from certain counties.

The "big six" counties remain the same: Fulton, DeKalb, Bibb, Richmond, Muscogee, DeKalb, Floyd and Laurens.

Under the present apportionment, the Troup bill places 32 counties in the two-representative group; Cobb, Carroll, Laurens, Thomas, Colquitt, Hall, Lowndes, Burke, Gwinnett, Sumter, Ware, Bullock, Walker, Clarke, Bartow, Polk, Coweta, Washington, Emanuel, Decatur, Mitchell, Spalding, Baldwin, Meriwether, Jackson, Dodge, Elbert, Walton, Worth and Whitfield.

Representatives Cut. Wilkes, Screven and Jefferson counties, now having two representatives, would be reduced to one, and Baldwin, Polk, Spalding and Whitfield would gain.

The remainder of the 161 counties would have one representative each. The house committee on pensions ordered a favorable report on a bill to increase payment of pensions to Confederate veterans through the office of the pension commissioner instead of the offices of ordinaries of the various counties, as under the present law. The bill, however, at the request of Kennedy, of Lamar, is not to be reported to the house until after disposition has been made of the reorganization bill, which carries a like provision.

The house committee on temperance voted a favorable report on a bill to prevent recorders from fine offenders for possessing intoxicating liquors. The present law does not permit recorders to fine offenders of the law, but through other charges such as loitering and disorderly conduct.

The measure does not interfere with any of the present provisions of the state prohibition law.

Beauty Operative Exams. The house committee on hygiene and sanitation voted favorably on a bill to create a board of health to examine applicants for licenses as beauty parlor operatives under the direct supervision of the state board of health. The measure provides for a physical examination as well as a business examination.

The house appropriations committee named a subcommittee of five to consider a bill to establish a fingerprinting department for criminals in Georgia. The measure asks for an appropriation of $20,000.

Chairman Culpeper explained at the open hearing on the fingerprint bill that it could not be considered by the committee until action has been taken on the general money bill pending in the house.

Sustaining a report of a subcommittee, house committee No. 1 on agriculture ordered a favorable report on the bill of Representative Stewart, of Coffee, known as the tobacco warehouse bill.

The measure would have fixed fees to be charged by tobacco warehouses in Georgia's bright leaf tobacco belt and provided other regulations.

Measure Forged. Agricultural committee No. 1 of the house ordered a favorable report on two bills.

The first of these measures was sponsored in the house by Representative Battle, of Muscogee. It was a senate measure providing for the amending of a certain statute permitting the use of peanut shells in the manufacture of feedstuffs for live stock, provided a ticket plainly states that such are used in its manufacture.

Secretary of Agriculture Eugene Talmadge appeared before the committee in support of the peanut bill. The committee also voted favorably on the egg classification measure. The bill would have eggs labeled by the merchant, designating them as "cold storage, shipped or fresh Georgia eggs."

The bill would place the enforcement of the egg law in the hands of the food inspection section of the state department of agriculture. It provides a penalty of from $50 to $200 for violations of the act. The bill was a committee substitute for the original bill by Representative Walker, of Ben Hill.

The house insurance committee reported adversely on two bills and favorably on two others.

Two measures by Representative Leathers, of DeKalb, affecting any additional insurance concerns coming into the state and a companion measure that fixed a tax and certain regulations on insurance concerns, were adversely reported.

Two other insurance measures, also companion bills, would make it a violation of the law for burial associations to pay their members in merchandise or services. The measure would provide that they must pay cash. These bills received a favorable report.

The senate insurance committee voted an unfavorable report on the Watson bill proposed to give legal standing to the societies. The bill was supported by former Senator Ed Rivers, of LaGrange, who appeared as spokesman for the burial groups, and was opposed by W. T. Buchanan, attorney representing insurance commissioner, and by a committee representing the Georgia Funeral Directors' Association.

Highway Meet Today. The senate highways committee Wednesday postponed its meeting until this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The pension committee ordered a bill which would extend 10 years the

Albert Fall Tells His Story

How Hoover Got Into Cabinet.

BY ALBERT B. FALL

(Copyright, 1931, by N. A. N. A., Inc.)

Editor's Note: Albert B. Fall, who goes to prison now for having accepted a bribe while he was secretary of the interior under President Harding, has written his own story of his experiences while he was in the cabinet. With Fall beginning his prison term, the narrative has especial timeliness.

The Constitution does not present the series as a defense of this former secretary of the interior, though Fall, convicted and resigned in his term in prison, naturally gives his side of one of the biggest stories the country ever knew.

The name of Herbert Hoover as a prospective member of President Harding's cabinet first came up at a dinner party given by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge the day after the convention which nominated Mr. Harding. And not long after that the name of Andrew W. Mellon for secretary of the treasury came up.

It was consideration of these two names that brought about what was probably the biggest political "trade" in the Harding administration. It is entirely probable that but for Harding's determination to include Hoover in his cabinet, Mellon might not have become a cabinet member at all.

Hoover's presence—a commanding presence—on the future cabinet horizon made it possible for Mellon's friends to get Mellon into the cabinet.

The friends who did this were Senator Penrose and Knox of Mellon's state, Pennsylvania. "Dawes is also a man of great financial ability," Harding responded. "He was a soldier with a good record; he is a credit to Illinois in every way, and besides, he's a musician and a composer."

"What in the world has that to do with it?" it shows he has something to him besides business. A man of all-around development like that is bound to have a fine soul. That's the kind of men I like, and Dawes is as good a banker as you'll find anywhere; don't forget that."

At least a half dozen times in that conversation Harding mentioned Dawes was a musician and composer. The spiritual qualities implied in Dawes' aptitude for music seemed to touch something in Harding's sentimental nature.

There the situation lay—Reynolds, who was well supported, on the one hand; Dawes on the other. There was never any bitter factional fight between them, but both stood high in the future president's considerations, Dawes standing a little higher.

Powerful Pair. The shrewd and astute Senators Knox and Penrose sized up this state of affairs. Men of great influence and power in the senate, they could defeat almost any man nominated by the president for a cabinet job. They were to be reckoned with.

One day Knox summoned me to his office. Penrose was there. Harding was then in Florida. The senators came to the point. They wanted me to go to Florida and insist that Harding pledge himself to Andrew W. Mellon for secretary of the treasury.

They extolled Mellon: a big figure in his home state, a man of great financial grasp and ability, a man who would bring power and influence to the administration. Pennsylvania, they said, would be a "corner" of all political claims when backed by a good favorable vote, as in this instance.

Standing there, looking at those two powerful senators, it seemed to me, that Pennsylvania was entitled to recognition. "Isn't it customary," I asked, trying to cover my inward embarrassment by joking, "to ask in what political way reciprocation might be shown were this little favor done?"

"Certainly," said Penrose. "How about Hoover?" "Certainly," said Penrose. "Well, I hesitated, wondering what the effect was going to be, 'how about Herbert Hoover?'"

You insist that Harding nominate Mellon, and we do not nominate Mellon, we'll support Hoover."

Again I wondered about Dawes. Knox seemed to divine what I was thinking, for he said: "Mellon's nomination would come time that widows of Confederate veterans could apply for pensions, and the insurance committee recommended that the bill to create burial associations of the house and senate met jointly to hear Arch C. Johnson, of Chicago, representative of the Century of Progress, or World's Fair, to start in that city on June 1, 1933, explain how Georgia could benefit by having an exhibit."

A resolution was introduced in the senate calling for a committee of 20 citizens, to be named by the governor, to consider advisability of the state placing a display at the fair in its behalf. Without the support of Knox and Penrose, Hoover's nomination for the cabinet would never be confirmed.

U. S. HOLDS ALOOF FROM DEBT PACTS

Nation Will Evade Any Political Situation 'in Aiding Germany.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(AP)—America drew aloof tonight from all political considerations in connection with the German financial situation. Acting Secretary Castle of the state department said the United States would not allow itself to be involved in any political situation in the extension of economic assistance to Germany.

The French government, he added, has contended it did not ask directly for political considerations in connection with financial aid asked by Germany. Press dispatches from Europe earlier in the week said France had made political demands on Germany through Hans Luther, head of the Reichsbank, when he talked with French officials in Paris.

The acting secretary asserted he thought it unlikely that other countries would extend credit to Germany before that nation took steps for a domestic economic adjustment. He expressed a belief the American federal reserve system would extend credits to Germany only in concert with all interested banking sources, including the Bank of England in London.

A more optimistic and hopeful view of the German situation was expressed at the White House and state department late in the day. Germany's fulfillment of her obligations under the moratorium plan by paying unconditional annuities due today, strengthened official confidence that the situation was clearing.

The money under the plan, will be loaned to Germany.

Skelton's resolution sought to have the special committee, composed of Senators Edwards, Huddleston and Colson, supply the house with additional information, emphasizing the failure of the report or the bill to show where the state would save money if the bill were to become a law.

Civilization on Brink Declares Mussolini

ROME, July 15.—(UP)—"Civilization has reached its 'stand' from which it may be plunged into 'chaotic disaster' by war or saved for peace and economic recovery through disarmament," Premier Benito Mussolini said today.

Fresh from disarming discussions with Secretary of State Stimson, Mussolini stressed the important position of the United States in the decision which will determine the future of the world, "now at the parting of the ways."

The United States, as the most powerful country in the world today, can achieve disarmament "by pounding with hammer blows until disarmament is an accomplished fact," the premier said.

state to work out a plan of reorganization in response to a solemn mandate from the people of Georgia. We have endeavored to meet the wishes of the people but if this house doesn't believe this bill represents what the people have demanded, it has the right to reject it."

Crowe pointed out that the special committee ceased to exist with the convening of the regular session and that the resolution, if adopted, would not be any more binding upon the committee than upon individual members of the general assembly.

"Isn't it a fact," Representative Skelton, of Elbert, interposed to ask, "that this committee did investigate the department of agriculture because Eugene Talmadge was frank enough to tell you that he had kidnapped people of committee members on his pay rolls?"

"No," Crowe replied, "that's an unadulterated falsehood."

House Votes To Adjourn. Speaker Tucker pounded at his gavel. Skelton sat down and Crowe followed suit. Bessley moved to table the Hart-Hubbard resolution, the Tucker overruled again the point of order raised anew by Dykes and the bill, having been read previously, was up for debate. The house voted to adjourn and debate will open today with Representative Gus Huddleston speaking for the bill.

The reorganization bill reduces the number of state departments and agencies from 102 to 17 by merger and abolishes the provisions of the University of Georgia and its branches would be administered by a board of regents instead of the 25 boards now functioning.

All revenue-collecting agencies would be consolidated. The governor would be given broader powers, the banking department abolished, six attorneys-general authorized to supplant extra legal help that cost the state over $125,000 in 1930 and all natural resource agencies merged.

Opposition to Measure. Opposition to date, which has shown itself openly, has come from Bonnell Stone and representatives of the Georgia Forestry Association and the state board of health. The state forestry department, under the reorganization bill, would be merged with the state geology department and the fish and game department.

The state board of health, as it now exists, would be abolished and the Alto Sanatorium and Gracewood School for the Feeble-Minded would be transferred from its administration to a board of eleemosynary control.

Beyond the introduction of several new bills, including the committee substitute for the general appropriation bill carrying approximately $11,000,000 for each of the next two years, the house did nothing else Wednesday. As presented by Chairman J. W. Culpeper, of Fayette, it contains sharp cuts made in the budget report of Governor Russell for the University of Georgia which, amounting to more than $500,000, have been given to the common schools.

BOARD TO AWARD ROAD WORK TODAY

262 Bids Received for Building of 163 Miles of Highways.

Highway officials late Wednesday announced that contracts for 107 miles of paving and 56 miles of grading would not be awarded until today because of work involved in checking the 262 individual bids received.

The letting, one of the largest in the history of the department and estimated by engineers at $2,750,000, is the sixth this year. Bids were received on the roof garden of the Ansley hotel, due to lack of space to accommodate the bidders at the capital.

One of the important projects listed was the final link on the road between Toccoa and the South Carolina line. Practically all projects connect up unpaved portions of main trunk highways, including the Bankhead highway from Atlanta to Birmingham, the Macon-Savannah route, the Atlanta-Augusta route and the Atlanta-Macon route through McDonough. Several of these routes are now nearing completion.

The bids were opened at 10 o'clock and engineers worked the remainder of the day checking the various proposals but were unable to complete their task. Almost 350 contractors requested specifications of the contemplated projects prior to the letting.

WHEAT FUTURES HIT LOW RECORD

Rally Follows Plunge to All-Time Ebb Mark in July Trading at Chicago

CHICAGO, July 15.—(AP)—July wheat futures sold at 50 1-4 cents on the Chicago board of trade today, the lowest price ever recorded for any wheat future on that exchange, organized in 1848.

After touching the low point, which was 1-8 cent under the previous all-time low price set in 1894, wheat rallied along with all other grains, to close from 5-8 to 1 1-8 cents above yesterday. July wheat closed at 51 5-8.

Corn held above yesterday's prices all day and closed with substantial gains. July's last quotation was 50 1-4 to 50 1-2, compared with 57 1-8 to 57 1-4 yesterday.

The previous low price for wheat was set July 26, 1894. From 1848, when the Chicago board of trade was organized, no previous slump had come within several cents of the 1894 minimum of 50 3-8.

OFFICERS WILL HONOR MAJOR J. C. HOLLIDAY

Regular army and reserve officers of Atlanta district will give a dinner tonight at the Atlanta Athletic Club in honor of Major J. C. Holliday, fourth corps area assistant chief of staff, who will leave next week for Fort Montrie, S. C., where he will assume command of the second battalion of the Eighth Infantry.

Major Holliday has been on duty at Fort Montrie for the past three years. For the last year he has been assistant to the chief of staff. At Fort Montrie he will succeed Major G. E. Creswell, who goes to Fort Leavenworth as a student at the command and general staff school.

SHOOTING OF DANIEL DENIED BY TROTTER

Efforts of detectives to link B. C. Trotter, Hapeville cabinet-maker, with the shooting of C. C. Daniel, his fellow-worker, Tuesday afternoon on Marietta street, were blocked Wednesday when Daniel, who first told police that Trotter had fired the shot, admitted that he had not seen him fire and declared his unwillingness to prosecute. Daniel was shot while his back was turned, the bullet penetrating his right thigh.

The two men were brought face to face by detectives Wednesday and Trotter, when asked by Daniel why he had fired the shot, denied all knowledge of the affair. Daniel then asserted that immediately before the shooting, while he was talking with Trotter at Broad and Alabama streets, a third man, whose name he could not recall, had been present. Trotter denied this, but Detectives Lon Evans and E. W. Ginn instituted a search for the other man Wednesday.

More Rain Today, Forecaster Says

Rainfall deficiency for month..... 1.35 inches
Rainfall deficiency for year..... 13.75 inches
Temperature Wednesday..... 85 degrees
Temperature one year ago..... 73 degrees

Rain, blessed rain, fell upon Atlanta in the first real shower in more than a month Wednesday when the precipitation reached 1.18 inches in 24 hours. More rain and cooler temperatures is on the schedule for today, according to C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist.

The rainfall deficiency for the month of July had reached 1.35 inches Tuesday, but Tuesday afternoon the rain began to fall and by 7 o'clock Wednesday morning .62 inches had fallen, and by nightfall .56 inches more had been added. The figures quoted at the head of this story are official figures of the Atlanta weather bureau as of 7 o'clock Wednesday morning and do not include the rainfall of Wednesday afternoon. The yearly deficiency was brought down from 14.33 inches to 13.75 inches. On the 15th of July, last year, there was a rain and the mercury slid to 73 degrees, but the highest reached Wednesday was at noon, when 80 was the top reading. The rain in the afternoon caused it to drop 10 degrees to a reading of 73. The minimum for the day was 69 degrees.

MEETING IS OPENED BY CONFECTIONERS

America's sweet tooth has not been affected by depression, members of the Southern Wholesale Confectioners' Association were informed at the first of their twenty convention, being held at the Ansley hotel. The opening session got under way at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, with optimism as the keynote of addresses during the day.

Speaking at the initial session, Samuel Helbourn, president of the association, reported that the confection industry in the south has progressed during the last year, both from a financial standpoint and from that of membership.

The report of the secretary, C. M. McMillan, corroborated the president's assertion that the year past was the best in the history of the association. A return to "pre-war office hours and time cards" was the remedy recommended for present economic stagnation by United States Senator W. E. Brock, of the Brock Candy Company, Chattanooga, who was the principal speaker during the afternoon session.

Other speakers at Tuesday's sessions were Joel Hunter, of Atlanta, who spoke on the importance of the accounting system for jobbers; Jack Davenport, of Dayton-Paxon; C. P. Morgan, Asheville, N. C.; Henry G. Barbee, Norfolk, Va., and A. S. Wynn, of Birmingham.

DAYTONA BEACH OFFICE CLOSES

Miss Elizabeth Uehlin, who has been in charge of the Daytona Beach Chamber of Commerce office in the Peachtree Arcade building, announces that the Atlanta office will be closed today. Miss Uehlin is returning to Daytona Beach after a most successful six-week season in Atlanta. She reports that a large number of people from Atlanta and vicinity received information from the local office, later visiting Daytona Beach and other sections of Florida. Miss Uehlin reports that the Daytona Beach Chamber of Commerce will again open an Atlanta office next season.

ATLANTA, GA., JULY 16, 1931.

BRIGHTENING PROSPECTS.

With Secretary of State Stimson and Foreign Minister Henderson, of Great Britain, in Paris to confer with the French government on the crisis facing the countries of Central Europe, the announcement that the German banks will be reopened today to meet the nation's pay rolls, gives assurance that the worst of the German financial disturbance, which threatened to engulf the entire continent, is over.

The ability of the German government to weather this critical crisis in the nation's financial and economic affairs stands as a striking testimonial to the solidity and level-headedness of the German people. With the Hitlerites and the strong communist element flaring into action, the great mass of the populace have dug in and "stayed put" with apparent confidence in the ability of their chosen leaders to handle the situation.

As a result of the trying days of the past week may well prove to have been in the nature of a needed blood-letting, which will permit the rehabilitation of the financial status of Germany on a sounder and safer basis.

If nothing else, the crisis has demonstrated the necessity of a reasonably prosperous Germany if the world is to have financial stability.

It is a foregone conclusion that the forthcoming counsel on the Young plan, as modified to meet the requirements of the proposed moratorium, will deal with the subject in its broader aspect as affecting the business stability of all Europe, and that means North and South America also.

The general attitude now is that Germany, to secure relief from her troubles, must first aid herself, and that she is proceeding to do. Within the past 10 years similar situations have resulted in the downfall of administrations in England and France, but the present German government has courageously, and seemingly successfully, gone about its difficult task.

The closing of the German banks was more of a precautionary step than a necessary one. When they reopen today they will be in a much better position to resist any continued attacks from reactionary elements.

With every indication pointing to the steady abatement of the crisis, there is reason for the confident belief that its effect has opened the way for the building of better and more solid world conditions.

COTTON'S SALVATION.

Fifty per cent increase in the use of cotton for purposes of every kind is necessary if the growers are to make a profit on this year's crop. Members of the Rotary Club were told at their regular luncheon this week by Cason J. Callaway, of La Grange, president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association.

Pointing out that the annual consumption in America is only 6,000,000 bales, he warns that something must be done to take care of the hold-over of approximately 3,000,000 bales or a loss of more than $600,000,000 will be in prospect at present prices.

With the foreign demand for American cotton constantly lessening as a result of increased production, the prosperity of the southern planter can be assured only through a combination of increased buying, reduced acreage and improved methods of cultivation.

The growers, heeding the omen of foreign competition, have already made a substantial start towards raising less staple at a lower cost per pound, but during the past decade national consumption has shown but little increase.

Mr. Callaway strikes at the crux of the trouble when he urges that the growers be taken to remove the impression among the mass of the people that cotton is a low-grade article, and calls upon the textile manufacturers to produce such im-

Miracle in Tuscany.

Stories told by a young girl and three children of how the "Madonna," dressed in black, appeared to them as they were feeding their chickens on a hillside in Tuscany, have caused thousands of devoted pilgrims to flock into the district. In a single day over 1000 persons climbed the hill in the hope of getting a glimpse of the "vision" for themselves, reports a Leghorn correspondent. The girl and the three children say they were feeding the chickens about 6 o'clock in the evening when they suddenly saw a lady dressed in black, with a white stole round her neck. Some what alarmed by her strange appearance, they moved away from her, but she spoke to them gently, telling them to return the next evening, for she had need to speak to them. They related the occurrence to their parents, and were naturally not believed.

The next evening the children went in some trepidation to feed the chickens. Once more the lady appeared, and she again spoke to them. She exhorted the children to ask their fathers to give up swearing and to pray. At this point one of the little girls said the lady who she was, and she replied, "I am the Madonna."

Kitchener Mystery.

A sensational story regarding the death of Lord Kitchener in H. M. S. Hampshire, which was sunk either by a submarine or a mine while voyaging to Russia during the war, is told in a book entitled "Four Spies Speak," by Heinz Ecker, published in Berlin. His experienced French spy who related his experience to Herr Ecker, stated that the secret decision to send Lord Kitchener to Russia was learned by Prince Peter Kropotkin, the modern socialist, who was living in London at the time.

The prince feared that the war might be long ended, and Kitchener succeeded in reorganizing the Russian army, and it is alleged he asked an officer of the Russian general staff named the "X" to do something to prevent the journey. This officer is stated to have informed the German admiralty of the departure of H. M. S. Hampshire, which was sunk on June 5. De Gize left England in 1917, went to France and worked later in Holland for the German intelligence service. The last that was heard of him by the French spy who tells this story is that he was in Georgia, Russia, in 1920. (Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution.)

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

WHEN NERVES GO WRONG, WE CUT THEM.

Recently a man in Kansas City suffered an attack of hiccoughs that persisted in spite of all remedies for 49 days and nights. He was finally taken to the operating room and the surgeon severed the two phrenic nerves in the patient's neck. These nerves are spinal nerves which supply sensation and motion to the diaphragm. The cutting of the nerves immediately stopped the spasm of the diaphragm and the patient was able to breathe again. Of course his diaphragm is put out of commission for an indefinite time, perhaps forever, but had this surgical interference not been available the hiccoughs would probably have put the whole man out of commission for longer than that. If the phrenic nerves should fail to regenerate and resume their function, the patient simply goes on as he was only slightly less active, for his eating capacity would be unimpaired and exertion would quickly wind him, just as though he had a damaged lung or an impaired heart.

It is getting close to the fashion to jump in and cut off nerves when they get crossed or anything. Take Raynaud's disease ("dead fingers"), for example. In very severe cases, when other known palliative remedies fail it is now the custom to roll the patient into the operating room and cut the thoracic or lumbar sympathetic ganglion—the sympathetic refers to the nervous system not to the doctors and nurses, though sometimes they are so very much in the way. The patient would be surprised and delighted with the results. In a series of six patients with advanced Raynaud's disease of the feet, the comparatively simple division or severing of the nerves supplying the blood vessels involved gave complete relief which has lasted from six months to years so far. The feet have been warm and dry even in the coldest weather. There have been no untoward effects observed.

Stories told by a young girl and three children of how the "Madonna," dressed in black, appeared to them as they were feeding their chickens on a hillside in Tuscany, have caused thousands of devoted pilgrims to flock into the district. In a single day over 1000 persons climbed the hill in the hope of getting a glimpse of the "vision" for themselves, reports a Leghorn correspondent. The girl and the three children say they were feeding the chickens about 6 o'clock in the evening when they suddenly saw a lady dressed in black, with a white stole round her neck. Some what alarmed by her strange appearance, they moved away from her, but she spoke to them gently, telling them to return the next evening, for she had need to speak to them. They related the occurrence to their parents, and were naturally not believed.

The next evening the children went in some trepidation to feed the chickens. Once more the lady appeared, and she again spoke to them. She exhorted the children to ask their fathers to give up swearing and to pray. At this point one of the little girls said the lady who she was, and she replied, "I am the Madonna."

Kitchener Mystery.

A sensational story regarding the death of Lord Kitchener in H. M. S. Hampshire, which was sunk either by a submarine or a mine while voyaging to Russia during the war, is told in a book entitled "Four Spies Speak," by Heinz Ecker, published in Berlin. His experienced French spy who related his experience to Herr Ecker, stated that the secret decision to send Lord Kitchener to Russia was learned by Prince Peter Kropotkin, the modern socialist, who was living in London at the time.

The prince feared that the war might be long ended, and Kitchener succeeded in reorganizing the Russian army, and it is alleged he asked an officer of the Russian general staff named the "X" to do something to prevent the journey. This officer is stated to have informed the German admiralty of the departure of H. M. S. Hampshire, which was sunk on June 5. De Gize left England in 1917, went to France and worked later in Holland for the German intelligence service. The last that was heard of him by the French spy who tells this story is that he was in Georgia, Russia, in 1920. (Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution.)

WHEN NERVES GO WRONG, WE CUT THEM.

Recently a man in Kansas City suffered an attack of hiccoughs that persisted in spite of all remedies for 49 days and nights. He was finally taken to the operating room and the surgeon severed the two phrenic nerves in the patient's neck. These nerves are spinal nerves which supply sensation and motion to the diaphragm. The cutting of the nerves immediately stopped the spasm of the diaphragm and the patient was able to breathe again. Of course his diaphragm is put out of commission for an indefinite time, perhaps forever, but had this surgical interference not been available the hiccoughs would probably have put the whole man out of commission for longer than that. If the phrenic nerves should fail to regenerate and resume their function, the patient simply goes on as he was only slightly less active, for his eating capacity would be unimpaired and exertion would quickly wind him, just as though he had a damaged lung or an impaired heart.

It is getting close to the fashion to jump in and cut off nerves when they get crossed or anything. Take Raynaud's disease ("dead fingers"), for example. In very severe cases, when other known palliative remedies fail it is now the custom to roll the patient into the operating room and cut the thoracic or lumbar sympathetic ganglion—the sympathetic refers to the nervous system not to the doctors and nurses, though sometimes they are so very much in the way. The patient would be surprised and delighted with the results. In a series of six patients with advanced Raynaud's disease of the feet, the comparatively simple division or severing of the nerves supplying the blood vessels involved gave complete relief which has lasted from six months to years so far. The feet have been warm and dry even in the coldest weather. There have been no untoward effects observed.

IDAHO FOREST BLAZES CHECKED BY FIGHTERS

Situation Remains Critical in Montana and Wyoming.

SPOKANE, Wash., July 15.—(AP)—Cloudy weather and fast work by an army of fighters brought Idaho's most dangerous forest fires closer to submission today, though the situation was still critical in Montana and Wyoming.

Trenching of the 13,000-acre Hemlock creek blaze in the Clearwater forest of north Idaho was to be completed today by more than 1,000 workers. Forest officials believed only heavy winds or a new hot spell would put the fire out of control again.

Meager reports from new fires in the Challis forest of central Idaho indicated favorable weather was helping the fighters. No other new danger areas were reported.

Three hundred men were working in Montana to subdue the Rock Creek fire in the Bitter Root valley and the fire along Gold creek.

Abortive Duel Claims Life of Cuban Solon

HAVANA, July 15.—(AP)—Senator Rogelio Zayas Bazan, of Camaguey, died today of wounds received in what police believe was a duel. Senator Modesto Maidique, who fled after Senator Zayas Bazan was shot yesterday, was sought by the police.

A party of American tourists from stories told by witnesses, the principals drove to a spot in the Miramar section and arrived about the same time. Senator Zayas Bazan alighted and before he could draw his gun his assailant fired four times.

SALE OF FAKE CHECKED TO NASHVILLE DOCTOR
NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 15.—(AP)—Dr. Edgar Gleaves and Miss Lena Davis, his secretary, were at liberty on bonds of $10,000 each following their arrest yesterday by federal agents upon charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with national sale of an alleged spurious preparation to restore vitality.

Assistant United States District Attorney W. Poe Maudslow said cases against the two and a third person not yet arrested had been worked up by special agents from Washington, D. C., and that indictments had been returned at the spring term of court.

ALABAMA TURNS EYES TO SHOALS SOLUTION

Hurley and Commission of Nine Will Confer on Problem.

FLORENCE, Ala., July 15.—(AP)—Operation of Muscle Shoals tonight was the dominant topic of conversation here as the city prepared to welcome tomorrow Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley and the newly-named commission of nine who will seek a solution to a plan for disposing of the government's $150,000,000 war-time project.

The commission, three named by President Hoover and three each by the governors of Alabama and Tennessee, will meet with Secretary Hurley, who will come here by plane from Washington to lay groundwork for the future conduct of the body to solve a problem that has vexed congress for 10 years.

A majority of the members of the commission have signified that they will attend. Vance Alexander, of Nashville, a member of the Tennessee commission, announced today that he was resigning because he did not have the time to devote to it.

The other two Tennessee commissioners, Mercer Reynolds, of Chattanooga, and W. M. Caldwell, of Jackson, are expected to attend the conference.

The three Alabama commissioners named yesterday by Governor R. M. Miller, Judge S. F. Hobbs, of Selma; Dr. L. N. Duncan, of Auburn; and W. F. McFarland, of Florence, were asked by the chief executive to be present.

In addition, Colonel Harvey B. Ferguson and Colonel Joseph I. McMullen, of the army engineer corps, designated by President Hoover to represent the war department, are expected, but Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Bureau of Federation, probably will not be present. O'Neal was named by President Hoover to represent the national farm organizations on the commission.

CHIANG REPORTS DEFEAT OF REDS

NANKING, China, July 15.—(AP)—Chiang Kai-shek, provisional president of the Chinese republic, who is directing operations against Chinese communists who have occupied Canton, telegraphed today from the front that the government armies had broken through the communist right wing to capture Kwang Ching and that the reds were in disorderly retreat toward the south.

COURT UNTANGLES CONVERSE'S AFFAIRS

Affairs of P. C. Converse which became somewhat tangled Tuesday afternoon were straightened out Wednesday, when a peace warrant he had taken out against his wife was dismissed, and contempt of court action against himself which grew out of the hearing of the warrant case was dropped by Judge Luther Z. Rosser in municipal court of Atlanta.

Converse is alleged to have appeared in court Tuesday afternoon to push proceedings on the peace warrant he had taken out against his wife, but was ordered to the jail by Judge Rosser who stated that he was in contempt of court as he was appearing in a drunken condition. However Wednesday Converse was ordered let out of jail by the judge after he is said to have apologized for coming into court that way, and the warrant against his wife was dismissed. There were $16.55 costs involved in the matter and the wife agreed to pay half and Converse the other half.

Key Plan To Cut Wards, Council To Be Discussed by Women Voters

The Atlanta League of Women Voters will consider as the principal business before its regular meeting Friday morning the so-called Key plan of reducing the number of wards in Atlanta and the reduction of membership in borough council, it was announced Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Harry L. Greene, president of the league.

In making this announcement Mrs. Greene pointed out that James L. Key was elected mayor by the voters of Atlanta in an election at which the citizens also went on record as favoring the proposal to cut the number of wards to six and the membership of council to 18.

"According to custom," Mrs. Greene said, "there is no difficulty in securing the passage of a local bill in the legislature, and all that is necessary now is the presentation of a bill incorporating the points voted upon last December by Atlanta citizens in order to carry out the progressive changes sponsored by Mayor Key."

Thus far no such measure has been introduced, although City Attorney J. L. Mayson has prepared the draft of a bill dealing with the Key plan of ward reduction, Mrs. Greene said.

The man, James Murray, testified that he was a chauffeur for a "rich family" and was taking the car back to Indianapolis, and that Lella Berry, negro woman, was the cook and that she was accompanying him. They stated they were employed by Mrs. J. R. Francis, who broke up the summer home at Miami Beach following the death last Saturday of her husband.

The two negroes stated they were not aware there was liquor in the car. The prohibition agents testified there were two boxes containing 17 quarts and one pint of bonded liquors. Murray was held for the federal grand jury under a $1,000 bond and the Berry woman under $500 bond.

Lightning Rod Saves Franklin Institution

PHILADELPHIA, July 15.—(AP)—A lightning rod, the invention of Benjamin Franklin, saved an institution he founded—the Pennsylvania hospital—during last night's electrical storm.

Firemen said a bolt, which struck the cupola of the main building, was deflected by an ancient lightning rod extending above the tower. The flash enveloped the cupola in a sheet of flame, but the tower, containing priceless documents and surgical relics, was not damaged.

"PARTY" DRINK KILLS FIVE PENNSYLVANIANS

TAMAQUA, Pa., July 15.—(AP)—Five men were dead today after drinking an alcoholic preparation containing poison at a "party" in a camp. Thirty-five persons were reported to have attended the outing, and police were checking tonight in an effort to learn if there were more casualties. Daniel Evans, Alfred Morton, John Cashman, Thomas Davis and Norman Rebeitz were the victims.

BROTHERS WINS DELAY IN BEGINNING TERM

CHICAGO, July 15.—(AP)—The commitment of Leo V. Brothers, of St. Louis, to the state penitentiary at Joliet to serve a 14-year term for the slaying of Alfred J. Lingie, Chicago crime reporter, was held up today by a writ of superseas issued in connection with an appeal of the case to the supreme court. Pending the outcome of the appeal, Brothers will remain in the Cook county jail.

Your Own Lawyer Will Tell You Estate Planning Is Extremely Wise

There's a big difference between what you bequeath your heirs—and what they actually get . . . unless you have the foresight to create an Estate Plan.

An Estate Plan helps to reduce the loss that every estate suffers through "shrinkage." Just what this shrinkage may consist of, and how it may affect those to whom you leave your holdings is explained in an interesting way in our new booklet, "Concerning Estate Shrinkage." The Trust officers of this institution can—and will—be of assistance to you in working out your plan.

Government figures show that estate shrinkage is no "imaginary shadow." On estates of $100,000 or more it averages 18.98%!

Regardless of how much you may be able to bequeath, you will want to eliminate as much of this loss as possible; a careful reading of this booklet and consultation with our officers will point the way.

Your copy of "Concerning Estate Shrinkage" will come forward promptly upon request—without cost or obligation.

LAGRANGE COLLEGE GRADUATES PRESENT 'THE VALIANT'

Playlet Will Be Given at Emory University, July 17

Members of the 1931 graduating class of LaGrange College will present a play, "The Valiant," tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Emory University auditorium. The play received honorable mention this spring at Brenau College during a contest between dramatic clubs of southern colleges, and has been presented a number of times with remarkable success. The cast includes Misses Inez Bartley, Neva Caudle, Mary Lovejoy, Gordio Davis, Aldyne Jordan and Mrs. Elimina Caldwell Wade. The presentation of "The Valiant," is of state-wide interest and will be given for the benefit of the scholarship fund which is maintained by the alumnae. It is sponsored by Mrs. Samuel C. Dobbs, state president, and the Atlanta alumnae and tickets will be on sale at the door. Mrs. Thomas M. Campbell is president of the Atlanta Alumnae of LaGrange College, and the corps of officers include Mrs. Samuel C. Dobbs, vice president; Miss Idella Bellah, treasurer, and Mrs. Richard L. Branham, secretary.

Strong Playlet.
"The Valiant" is an exceedingly strong and interesting playlet, and holds the attention of an audience from first to last. Its dramatic situations are very tense, and the play deals with a phase of modern life which at present holds, and for some time has held, the attention of thoughtful people everywhere—that of the youthful criminal. The play was presented before the convention of Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, by the Dramatic Club of Brenau College, when state clubwomen met in Gainesville two years ago.

Mrs. Hudman Feted During Visit Here.

Mrs. W. C. Hudman, of West Point, Ga., is being entertained as guest of Mrs. Alvin Cates at her home on Peachtree road and is receiving much social attention.

Mrs. Hudman will be the central figure at a dinner party at which Mr. and Mrs. Cates will be hosts this evening at the dinner-dance at the Capital City Club roof garden. In Legislative Council.

Georgia Legislative Council of Women's Organizations meets this morning at 10 o'clock at the Second Baptist church, opposite the state capitol.

Mrs. H. G. Hastings, vice chairman of the council and chairman of child welfare of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, requests all women interested in this subject to attend this meeting and take part in the discussion. A report of the progress of important legislation will be given by the chairman, Mrs. Wellington Stevenson, and a visit to the general assembly will conclude the meeting.

SOCIETY EVENTS

THURSDAY, JULY 16.

Reserve officers stationed at Fort McPherson will be hosts at a military ball this evening at the Officers' Club complementing the regular army officers and their families.

The birthday of the late Miss Millie Rutherford, historical for Georgia division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, will be celebrated with appropriate ceremony at 3 o'clock this afternoon by Alfred H. Colquitt chapter, U. D. C., and Fulton chapter, U. D. C., at the Old Ladies' home in West End.

Mrs. Franklin Chambers and Mrs. Orris Donehue will entertain at a bridge-tena complementing Miss Katherine Babb.

Dinner-dance at the Capital City roof garden.

Dinner-dance at roof garden of the Athletic Club.

Mrs. Charles Collins will entertain at a luncheon at her home on West Andrews drive, honoring Mrs. E. T. Dameron, of Washington, D. C.

Mr., Mrs. Caldwell To Be Hosts At House Party at St. Simons

Among the interesting social events of the summer season will be the house party at which Mr. and Mrs. Emory S. Caldwell will entertain members of the younger set at their summer cottage on St. Simons Island, where many guests have enjoyed their hospitality on similar occasions during past summers. Miss Mildred McGuire will leave Saturday to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell and will assist them with entertaining other visitors.

A congenial group assembling for the house party Saturday, July 25, will be entertained with a round of social gaieties during the week following. Mr. Caldwell has arranged a deep-sea fishing party for his guests, after which a fish supper will be prepared by a native cook and served at the attractive cottage on the beach front. An interesting boat trip has been arranged to carry the visitors from St. Simons Island to Fernandino and other nearby ports. Other parties at the cottage have been planned to entertain the members of the party along with bathing in the surf and the other usual attractions of the beach. At the close of the house party, Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell and their guests will motor to Jacksonville, Fla., for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell have included in their guest list Miss Mildred McGuire, Miss Selma Carpenter, Miss Marian Smith, Miss Grace West, Mrs. Marian Brooks, Blanton Brown, Clyde Casey, J. W. Archibald, Lamar Brooks, Frederick Fagin and Earle Caldwell.

Social News of Varied Interest

Mrs. Clara B. Cassidy, national director of the Supreme Forest, Woodmen circle, who has recently returned from the national convention of the society held in Buffalo, N. Y., will attend the meeting of Maple Grove No. 86 in the hall at 8 o'clock this evening. Mrs. Cassidy will bring many interesting facts from the convention and also the various changes in the ritualistic work of the society. During the evening drills will be exemplified by the Dora Alexander Talley Guards directed by Mrs. Verna Storms. Another feature of the meeting will be a miscellaneous shower to be given Miss Hardegree and Henry Askew. Mr. Askew has been an interested member of Maple Grove for a number of years and has done much toward upbuilding of the society. All members of Maple Grove are urged to participate in the shower. Enthusiastic meetings of Maple Grove telephone committees have done much to increase the attendance of the weekly meetings of the Grove.

Mrs. Emil Ackerman, of Chesterfield, S. C., is visiting Miss Betty Orenstein on Atlanta avenue in Decatur and was the honoree at a series of luncheons, bridge-tena, swimming parties and theater parties. Miss Orenstein ad her guest left Atlanta

Hugh Hodgson Gives Concert This Evening

The last in the series of musical concerts presented by Hugh Hodgson during the past month will be given this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Emory University auditorium, with selections from famous operas as features of the program. Mr. Hodgson will present his chorus of 50 Emory singers, together with five prominent Atlanta soloists. The artists who will be heard are Mrs. Hugh Hodgson, soprano; C. E. Drummond Jr., baritone; Mendel Segal, violinist; Miss Minna Hecker, soprano, and John Panter, tenor. The program will be opened with the "Waltz" from Faust, as sung by the Emory chorus. "Elsa's Dream" from "Lohengrin," sung by Mrs. Hodgson, will follow. Mr. Drummond will sing an aria from Puccini's "La Boheme." Mr. Segal will play the "Meditation" from "Thais." Selections from two of Meyerbeer's operas will be sung by Miss Hecker and Mr. Panter. As his contribution to the program Mr. Hodgson will play the fire music from Wagner's "Walkure."

Culbertson on Contract

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

When to Pre-empt and Why

32
Pre-emptive bids have their place in contract. They are an effective means of cutting off the exchange of information between opponents but they should be used only on hands which are clearly of the pre-emptive type: i. e. hands which offer great possibilities in the way of attack and generally speaking, but slight probabilities in the way of defense. So used, they may even produce games when otherwise the opponents, through the exchange of information as to their divided strength, could get together, were it not for the fact that the easy exchange of information had been inhibited by a pre-emptive bid.

The one danger of this weapon in the hands of many contract players is the tendency to use it on hands in which the free exchange of information should be encouraged—not discouraged. Its use, then, ordinarily results disastrously for the partnership.

In a recent duplicate match at the Knickerbocker, West and East, New York, the following hand was dealt: East-West vulnerable South—Dealer

♠ Q 7
♥ 10 5 4
♦ K J 7 4
♣ 9 6 4
♠ K J 10 9 8
♥ A K 7
♦ A 8
♣ A 10 3 2
♠ A 6 5 4 3 2
♥ Q J 9 8 7
♦ K 6 3

The bidding on this hand was as diversified as the colors of Joseph's coat. Some players, with South's holding, passed because they did not hold 24 honor-tricks in two suits. Some weakly bid three clubs, a bid which might aptly be termed a good to force the east and west players into their most desirable declaration. Others bid one club, the lure of the honor count deciding them to disregard the standard requirements for a one-bid. This course also is entirely ineffective and inutile.

Where west and east, who are vulnerable, and, therefore, prone to walk with caution, had an opportunity to exchange information, they reached and made a small slam in spades. South, however, has an ideal hand for the opening bid of five clubs. His hand contains seven sure tricks in the club suit and the length in the diamond suit is worth at least one additional trick. Not vulnerable, if he plays the hand at five clubs, his set cannot exceed 400 points less 100 for the honors held, surely a small price to pay for the advantage of an adverse game. As a matter of fact, he needs to find but very little strength in partner's hand to turn his game-saving overbid into a game for his side. The bid might not work against all types of players but west certainly requires no small degree of daring in bid five spades over an opening bid of five clubs. If, on the contrary, west should decide to double, his partner must construe his double as a penalty and played at five clubs east and west cannot find a way to defeat the contract.

Today's Pointer.
When partner's opening bid is a minor suit, the responding hand, even if holding sufficient playing-tricks to raise the bid suit, should consider the advisability of a no-trump takeout (if holding no biddable suit).

A no-trump takeout, either of a major or a minor suit, does not necessarily deny adequate trump support: If the opening bid is one of a minor suit, the responding hand may prefer the cheaper contract.

If the opening bid is one of a major suit, the responding hand may have enough honor strength to keep the bidding open but insufficient playing-tricks to raise the bid suit. In such case a no-trump takeout (a minimum response) is the correct course.

TALKING IT OVER

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

We are sixteen and deeply in love and want to get married. The boy's folks don't fancy me and don't want him to have anything to do with me. He often tells me that he cannot be happy without me and I have never met anyone I thought half so attractive. Do you think the opposition of his parents is reason enough for me to give him up? Please help me. DOTT.

ANSWER:

Any parents would be opposed to any girl who talked of marriage with their sixteen-year-old son. The law doesn't recognize him as anything but a child. The schools don't recognize him as anything but a child. His parents know he is a child. Why should they be in favor of a love affair that might involve him in marriage when he is not old enough to know his own mind, to make a living, or to reckon with the problems that are always tied up in marriage?

The way for you to commend yourself to the parents of the boy is to make it plain to them, through him, that you will not consider marriage until you are a much older and wiser. When the time shall have come when marriage is feasible and you love the boy and he loves you, the parents will not offer any objection; you may be sure.

As I write this letter a sixteen-year-old boy sits opposite me. He is six feet tall but he is a mere boy. He thinks as a child and he plays as a child and he has the instincts of a child. He is very mature, too, and advanced in his school work but you can crowd just so much experience into sixteen years and you cannot crowd enough into it to fit a boy for the responsibilities of life which a husband must assume. CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

RESERVE OFFICERS GET NEEDED REST

Reserve officers of the 327th and 346th infantry, now in training at Fort McPherson, were afforded a much needed rest, Wednesday afternoon by virtue of a heavy downpour of rain, relieving them of activities after a strenuous forenoon of maneuvers centering around platoon in advance guard and attack, while the advanced class studied the battalion in defense.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon a trophy will be presented to the Georgia Reserve Officers' Association by the national association for its leadership in the membership drive. This event will be witnessed by all reserve officers at the post. At noon Saturday the 200 reserve officers of the 327th and 346th will leave for their homes in various parts of the south.

Burgess Children's Stories

AN ANXIOUS MOMENT.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

When those you love are threatened harm.

'Tis then of all times to be calm.

—Mother West Wind.

Speedfoot and Mrs. Speedfoot had reached the place where they could no longer hope to remain undiscovered by Mrs. Fleetfoot the Antelope. They didn't know that they had already been discovered. They thought that they had been so clever that Mrs. Fleetfoot was still unsuspecting of their presence. Now, however, they could hope to get no nearer without being seen. For a few minutes the two Coyotes lay flattened in the grass, watching Mrs. Fleetfoot.

"She doesn't go far from that patch of sage brush over there," whispered Speedfoot. "We'll look that over thoroughly first."

So the Coyotes trotted straight for that patch of sage brush. Mrs. Fleetfoot began to bleat as if in distress, and to run back and forth and to circle about near the two Coyotes. The nearer they got to the sage brush the more distressed and anxious she appeared to be. Only a mother with danger threatening her babies could be so dreadfully anxious.

Speedfoot chuckled again. "It is just as I thought," said he. "Just look at her. The silly thing don't know that she is giving her secret away. Of course, those babies won't give out any secret. Our noses won't be of much use. We've got to find them with our eyes."

Back and forth in and out between the bushes the Coyotes went. They looked under every bush. They examined every inequality of the ground. Speedfoot tried a sudden yelp in the hope of frightening one of the babies into moving. But though they watched and listened they saw no slightest movement and heard no faintest sound. Three times they went over that patch of sage brush, every inch of it.

"They are not here," declared Mrs. Fleetfoot in a tone of bitter disappointment.

"You are right, my dear," replied Speedfoot, "but they are not far from here. We'll search all around outside this patch. You go that way and I'll go this way."

So they came more separated and Speedfoot began to trot back and forth to the right and Mrs. Speedfoot began doing the same thing to the left, looking under every lone bush and behind every mound and stone. So it was that Mrs. Speedfoot presently drew very near to the place where the twins were hidden. Poor Mrs. Fleetfoot!

Disposable tissues, cost less than laundering than half again as absorbent as the oldest linen handkerchief!

Other uses

Use Kleenex for removing face creams, as authorities advise. Its great absorbency assures thorough cleansing of the pores.

Motorists like to keep a package in the car. Mothers find Kleenex useful in the nursery.

Kleenex comes in many lovely tints as well as white, in Cellophane-wrapped packages to keep tissues absolutely fresh and clean. The convenient package permits easy removal of tissues with one hand. At all drug, dry goods and department stores.

HAY FEVER VICTIMS

You'll appreciate the softness and absorbency of Kleenex.

If you have hay fever... if you know one who suffers... invest in a package of Kleenex at once. It is impossible to describe the greater comfort of these dry, gentle, absorbent tissues. Do not put up with damp, irritating handkerchiefs another day. (And remember, Kleenex costs less than laundering.)

Perfect for children

Children, especially, need the protection of Kleenex. Being so carelessly with handkerchiefs, they should be taught to use a Kleenex tissue once, then destroy.

Children prefer Kleenex. It is so much softer than any handkerchief. Scientific tests show Kleenex more

Flower of Thorns

By Marie Conway Oemler

INSTALLMENT V.

"Your grandmother heard the shot and the fall and ran to the sound. She—saw him. Mercifully, the stroke fell upon her even as she screamed. Sally, my dear little girl, my poor child, when Rupert saw he was facing ruin—that everything was gone—he shot himself." He wouldn't tell her "He blew his brains out."

Sally reeled, but again she did not scream. She mustn't be so frightened—she mustn't. Only let her get free of this smothering blackness.

For the time being she couldn't comprehend. What could any disaster mean to her except as it touched her personally? Except as it swept away his beloved and beautiful presence, closed his kind eyes, silenced his handsome lips?

"I must see him," she insisted agonizedly.

Unwillingly he led her to the closed room and himself raised the coffin lid and let her look on the poor, shattered, bandaged thing that had once manifested as the handsome, courtly, honored, envied Rupert Rutherford.

"O, poor darling! And this is what has come to you," she whispered. Sally, touching his folded hands gently. And she wept for him, never thinking of herself. She had never before been called upon to weep for a Rutherford, and it was a bitter experience. It bewildered her that this terrible thing could befall grandpa and the sky not fall, the world come to a ruinous end. It made her panic-stricken that the sun went on shining unconcernedly, quite as though nothing had happened.

"Darling, darling grandpa, don't you worry about me. I'm young. I'm strong. I can work. I promise you I'll take care of grandmamma for you. I'll carry on. I'll do the best I can always."

From all over the state letters and telegrams of condolence and sympathy poured in. Mounds of flowers and an endless line of cars from the city, from all the county streamed up the great oak avenue. People felt a sort of consolation—the colonel had at least appeared to be the very button on Fortune's cap, and now this ghastly ending of an honorable career.

After the colonel had been laid away in the family vault under the trees of Oakleigh, in the presence of a vast concourse of people who were deeply stirred by the tragedy of his passing, and the house was at last free of guests, Sally held another interview with Mr. Sinclair.

"My nerves are quite steady and my head is clear again, Mr. Sinclair. I have heard the worst news I shall ever hear, so nothing you can tell me now will overwhelm me," she said composedly. "Now, to begin with, grandpa would expect me to take care of grandmamma. I am going to do so. I must do so. I want you to tell me exactly how your affairs stand, so I shall know how to begin."

"You are a brave child, Sally, and a good child," he said gently, "but to heaven I had better news for you—you deserve it. But I can't tell you how to begin the task you have set for yourself. The fact is, dear girl, there isn't anything to begin with."

"Everything is gone, Mr. Sinclair?" "Everything," said he, with a hopeless gesture.

"Isn't there any hope of salvaging something—enough for poor grandmamma, at least?"

"The question is," said he miserably in a low voice, "whether both of you won't have to leave Oakleigh."

Meeting at Warm Springs For Ozarks-to-Coast Road

State Auto Association
Call Collect

MACON, Ga., July 15.—To advance the idea of a motorway connecting the Ozarks, through Memphis and Birmingham, with Lake Martin at Alexander City, Ala., Warm Springs, Ga., and the south Atlantic seaboard through Macon, Ga., several hundred people will gather at Warm Springs Thursday morning at 11 o'clock, central time, according to Henderson Hallman, president of the Georgia Seaside and Beach Association.

in "Georgia some additions to the state highway system," continued President Hallman. "The route sought is Macon through Culloden, Thomaston, Manchester, Bullochville, Warm Springs, Durand, Chipley, West Point, Ga., Lanette, Lafayette, Camp Hill, Alexander City, Ala."

Regarding this route, M. A. Kolb, the secretary of the Ozark Playgrounds Association, writes from Joplin, Mo.: "It would seem almost unnecessary to point out the advisability

Plans are being made to name and organize the highway through several states and possibly extend it to the

The meeting will adjourn after adopting resolutions and forming a temporary organization.

Foreign obligations provided the bulk of the large declines and a number of them reached further all-time low records, reflecting general apprehension over conditions abroad. German 5 1/2s of 1965 dropped to a new low at 54 1/2. The 7s of 1940 closed with a net loss of 3 1/4 points for the day.

Sharp losses were scored by various German municipal, provincial and corporate issues.

Losses of the United States government were quite minor, but turned firm in the late trading.

Railroad loans scored many of the largest losses among domestic offerings. The decline in the price of the more speculative issues, were principally fractional.

Public utility and industrial loans showed the downward movement.
